Are your colleagues and customers already registered for conneXion? Ticket prices go up on April 25 – let them know to book their tickets now!

PARTNER OPERATIONS

Webinar on the Migration to LS Central SaaS

We arranged a webinar for our partners earlier this week, Migrating more LS Nav customers to LS Central SaaS, faster. Attendance was very good for the morning session but, unfortunately, the webinar tool crashed as we were about to start the afternoon session. We have put links to the recording of the morning session and the presentation on the Webinar page on the Portal (login required).

If you still want to join us live and get a chance to ask questions, we have scheduled a new afternoon session for Tuesday next week. This webinar is for all LS Retail partners who want to make sure they move their customers to SaaS successfully.

Tuesday, February 6, 2024 at 4:00 - 4:45 PM GMT

Partner Program

The Partner level and discounts will be reevaluated based on the requirements met and revenue earned from April 1, 2023 to March 31, 2024.

Please verify the status of needed actions to meet the requirements of the Partner Program regarding the number of valid certifications, customer nominations, new customer acquisitions to conclude no later than March 31, 2024.

For completing the Base Level Certification and/or increasing Core and Specialized Levels certifications, or refreshing certifications older than 3 years, all partners are encouraged to apply for one of the Partner Success Tracks or if already enrolled in the LS Retail Academy On-demand, it is time to finalize your trainings and to book certifications.

Partners aiming for Diamond and Platinum levels, please make sure to submit your Customer Nominations to Nominate a customer

Universal code initiative – Licensing details

Microsoft's aim for better quality solutions by introducing the Universal Code initiative has been fully activated both for on prem and cloud licenses. This means that everyone must go to full extensions (no code customized in the base application), and the code created must have the ability to work both on-premises and in the cloud (hence, "universal")

Some key points:

- Starting from version 22.0, LS Central is Universal Code compliant. The Target property in the app.json files for LS Central and LS Central System apps has been set to Cloud. Customers with the non-cloud-optimized code in their license running versions 22 or newer can request the removal of this granule to Licensing.
- Customers on versions below 22.0 purchased/transitioned after October 3, 2022 are not Universal Code compliant. They must include UC modules in their license and pay the associated fees.
- Customers that have customizations in the (50,000 – 99,999 range) and are registered after October 3, 2022 need to license these modules, since all solutions and customizations on their license should be in Universal Code.
